00:54:01 Daniel Burdsall - TPCHD: Staying up to date on vaccinations is important for everyone. Getting vaccinated protects you, your family and your community.

Children who attend school and childcare need certain vaccines before the first day.

If your child missed the clinics and still needs vaccinations, they might be able to take advantage of a school-based health center (SBHC).

If your child still needs vaccines, it isn't too late to find a local vaccine clinic. Several local organizations are working together to hold events in Pierce County this fall:

The Bessler Center at Mary Bridge Children's.

Pierce County Medical Reserve Corps.

Acts Pharmacy & Healthcare Services.

Find out more about vaccines and how to get them in this fall season!

00:54:57 Daniel Burdsall - TPCHD: Two Health Impact Assessments make policy recommendations to protect public health

Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department recently published two Health Impact Assessments (HIAs) that evaluate the potential health effects of City of Tacoma policies.

HIAs inform decision-makers and the public of the potential health outcomes—both beneficial and harmful—of a proposed project, policy, or program.

The City of Tacoma contracted with the Health Department to conduct HIAs on the South Tacoma Groundwater Protection District (STGPD) code update and the Tideflats Subarea Plan.

They can be used to learn more about our neighborhoods, environmental health, and how our local policies and regulations can affect our health.

00:56:16 Daniel Burdsall - TPCHD: Stay safe: Don't eat at unpermitted food vendors

Every food establishment in Pierce County must be permitted with us. We've seen an increase in roadside vendors selling food without a permit.

We've begun taking extra steps to find roadside carts and stands in Pierce County operating without permits.

Food permits and inspections might not seem like a big deal. But foodborne illness can be bad news.

If we find an unpermitted vendor, we can issue a permit then and there if they met requirements! If not, we ask them to leave and throw away unsafe food.
